II. Biographical History of Robert Crouse

Rev. Dr. Robert Darwin Crouse (1930-2011) was born in Winthrop, Massachusetts to Merle and Sarah (Crooks) Crouse.¹ His family had moved to Massachusetts from Nova Scotia, where his family had been for generations. Before her marriage, Sarah was trained in telegraphy and worked with the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal, moving back to Nova Scotia to train in the medical field at the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax.² She graduated in 1924.³ Merle was an agent at the Mutual Life Insurance Company.⁴ Merle and Sarah were married in 1926 in Lunenburg County.⁵ When Robert was only a few months old, his family moved back to the aptly named Crousetown in Lunenburg County, Nova Scotia. Sarah died from tuberculosis when Robert was six years old,⁶ and he and the rest of the family moved into his grandparent's house next-door.⁷

His schooling began in a one-room schoolhouse in Crousetown, and he later went to King's Collegiate School in Windsor, NS⁸ from 1943 to 1947.⁹ After secondary school, he completed a Bachelor of Arts at the University of King's College in Halifax in 1951, and spent a year studying philosophy and theology at King's and Dalhousie University.¹⁰ He later received a Baccalaureate of Sacred Theology at Harvard University in Cambridge, Massachusetts in 1954, and was ordained into the priesthood of the Anglican Church of Canada by Bishop Waterman in the same year.¹¹ He went on to complete a Master of Theology in 1957 at Trinity College in

Toronto, Ontario. While finishing his degree at Trinity College, he contributed significantly to the Scholastic Miscellany, edited by the Revd Dr. Eugene R. Fairweather. Crouse's master's dissertation was on St. Augustine's Doctrine of Justitia.¹² He took a break from schooling but returned in 1970, completing a Ph.D (Honorius Augustodunensis).¹³ At King's, he was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Divinity in 2007.¹⁴

Crouse was an accomplished educator and theologian. He also had a deep appreciation and love for poetry, literature, architecture, and music.¹⁵ He began teaching in 1960 at the Bishop's University in Lennoxville, Québec. He remained there for three years, before returning to Nova Scotia.¹⁶ He took up a position teaching in Dalhousie's Classics Department and King's Foundation Year Programme. Crouse was also one of the driving forces behind the Foundation Year Programme.¹⁷ He remained at King's/Dal until his retirement in 1995. From 1990-2004, he was also a visiting professor at Patrology at the Augustinianum of the Pontifical Lateran University in Rome, making him the first non-Catholic invited to this position¹⁸. He became a Carnegie Professor at King's in 1979 and served as Clerk of Convocation from 1972-1994.¹⁹ He was Vice President of King's for two years, and served as Director of the Foundation Year Program for one.²⁰ He was made the Canon Theologian of the Diocese of Saskatchewan in 1996,²¹ and was a member of the Primate's Theological Commission from the 1990s into the early 2000s.²²

Crouse wrote over 70 academic papers and books, with his research focusing on the works of Augustine and Dante.²³ He was an important figure at the annual Atlantic Theological Conferences and cared deeply about the Maritime context in which he was raised.²⁴ Crouse was also a musician— he played the organ at several parishes throughout his lifetime and established the Summer Baroque concerts in Crousetown.²⁵ He found the last tracker organ in Nova Scotia, which he installed in St. Mary's in Croustown.²⁶ He also established the choir for the Thursday Solemn Eucharist at the King's Chapel²⁷.

He loved hosting people to his home, students and colleagues alike, and was an avid gardener.²⁸ Many friends remember his extravagant salads, which at times had "30 or more ingredients."²⁹ Notably, he did not own a telephone or a computer and faxed all of his communications. He preferred to have time to sit and contemplate his responses. He died at the age of 80, in his grandparent's house in Crousetown, where he lived his entire life when he was not studying or travelling.³⁰

III. Scope and Content of the Robert Crouse fonds

I. Functions and activities to which the records pertain

The records in the fonds were created, collected, or used by Robert Crouse. These records were stored in Crouse's home until his death in 2011, at which time they were sorted through and taken by various former colleagues, students, and friends. Crouse died without a last will and everything in his estate went to his brother, George Boyd Crouse. Elliott House approached George Boyd Crouse and he signed over the rights to Crouse's papers. The papers were collected and sent to the King's Archives. In 2014, the records were sent to a professional conservator to be cleaned because of mouse droppings and other preservation concerns. Some records stayed in the archives waiting to be arranged and described, while five boxes went to Neil Robertson (Professor of Humanities at King's) for research. After Elliott House signed over the physical rights of the papers to the King's Archives in 2024, these materials were returned to the King's Archives.

The majority of these records pertain to Crouse's life as a theologian and as an educator. The records cover Crouse's lectures (with particular interest in Dante and Augustine), syllabi and course outlines, sermons, research, parochial records, university communications (Dalhousie and King's), committee minutes (Dalhousie and King's), music, personal and work correspondence, photographs, books, floppy discs, cassettes, and memorabilia. These records reflect Crouse's roots at King's, as well as his experiences in other countries, namely the United States and Italy.

II. Date span

These records span from about 1950 to 2011, with the majority being from Crouse's time as an educator at Dal/King's.

III. Subject matter

These records pertain to the life and work of Rev. Dr. Robert Crouse and feature his area of expertise as a theologian.

IV. Geographic area

The records mainly relate to and originate from Nova Scotia, namely Crousetown, Halifax, and Dartmouth. Because of Crouse's time at Harvard, some records originate from The United States, and others originate from Italy. Crouse often traveled to Rome to the Augustinianum of the Pontifical Lateran University.

V. Documentary forms

The records in the fonds include sermons, lectures, research notes, reference material, graded student work, parochial records, university correspondence, personal correspondence, sketches, photographs, and memorabilia.

VI. Arrangement

The fonds was arranged and described by Cassandra Burbine, Archives Assistant, beginning in May 2024. 5 boxes of records had been previously organized by researchers, and the Archives Assistant kept the original order of those boxes in tact. The rest of the records were kept in their original order (with the exception of photographs and postcards) but it is worth noting that the records had been gone through several times by various people and to refer to these records as being in an "original order" is misleading. The Archives Assistant established the following series:

Series 1	Sermons	UKC.CROUSE.1
Series 2	Parochial Records and Events	UKC.CROUSE.2
Series 3	Academic Writings	UKC.CROUSE.3
Series 4	Music	UKC.CROUSE.4
Series 5	Correspondence	UKC.CROUSE.5
Series 6	Audio and Video	UKC.CROUSE.6
Series 7	Memorabilia	UKC.CROUSE.7

IV. Notes

1. Source of supplied title proper

Title based on provenance.

2. Physical condition

While some records are in perfectly fine condition, others are in poor condition, with yellowing and fraying edges. Some of the records appear to have rodent bite marks, but the records were cleaned by a professional conservator in 2014. Some faxes are difficult to read because they have faded, and some copies of Arts Liberaux et philosophie show signs of burning.

3. Conservation

Photocopies of fragile records should be made at discretion of archival staff on duty. A digitization project of certain records may be beneficial in the future to prevent excessive handling.

4. Immediate source of acquisition

The majority of the records were brought to the King's Archives in 2014 after they were cleaned. The rest of the records were brought to the King's Archives in the Spring of 2024 once this arrangement and description project was confirmed, following the deal signed with the Elliott House of Studies.

5. Language

The records are in English, French, German, and Latin. The majority of the records are in English.

6. Availability of other formats

Currently, no other formats are available.

7. Restrictions on access

There are no restrictions on these records.

8. Copyright

The intellectual copyright belongs to Elliot House. The King's Archives owns the physical papers.

9. Reproduction and publication

Reproduction and publication is not permitted. Intellectual property rights are held by the Elliott House of Studies Inc. (Savannah, GA). Inquiries should be sent to the University Archivist. A Memorandum of Agreement between the King's Archives and the Elliott House of Studies has been effective since November 2023.

10. Finding aids

No earlier finding aids exist with this material.

11. Accruals

Further accruals are expected. All material up to August 2024 has been processed.

12. Related materials

The archives also have the Chapel fonds and there is a thematic overlap with these records and the Robert Crouse fonds, particularly the Parochial Records.

VI. Series descriptions and file lists

Series 1 Sermons
 Ca.1950-2011 (most records appear to originate from 1980s onward)
 .4m of textual records (2 small boxes)
 Can be found in Row/Stack 9

Scope and content

Series consists of a mixture of handwritten, typed, and copied sermons by Robert Crouse. Some are complete where others are clearly notes. These sermons discuss many topics, namely Advent, Saint Days, and Holy Week.

The documents have been kept in their original order where possible (Archives Assistant tried to ensure pages went in the order they are meant to be read) though some dividers like paper clips and staples have been removed for preservation purposes. Can be found in Row/Stack 9.

Source of title proper

Title based on content of records.

Related records

The academic writings series from the Robert Crouse fonds has theological papers, notes, and musings that complement the sermons. The Archives Assistant has tried to make these connections clear in the file list for both series. UKC.CROUSE.1.13 includes some materials that relate to the parochial records and events series.

Series 2 Parochial Records and Events
 Ca.1950s-2011
 .2m of textual records (1 small box)
 Can be found in Row/Stack 9

Scope and content

Series consists of a mixture of hand written, typed, and copied reports on parish histories, Harvard Chapel event pamphlets, parochial retreat information, and theological conference information.

The documents have been kept in their original order where possible (Archives Assistant tried to ensure pages went in the order they are meant to be read) though some dividers like paper clips and staples have been removed for preservation purposes.

Source of title proper

Series 3 Academic Writings

Ca.1950s-2011

3.4m of textual records (12 small boxes, 3 large ones)

Can be found in Row/Stack 9

Scope and content

Series consists of a mixture of hand written, typed, and copied papers, lectures, notes, research material, student work, and teaching material. The majority of the work is from Crouse's time as an educator, but some may be from his student days.

The documents have been kept in their original order where possible (Archives Assistant tried to ensure pages went in the order they are meant to be read) though some dividers like paper clips and staples have been removed for preservation purposes. Boxes 5, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15 are marked with "NR" to indicate that they are boxes that were held by researchers Neil Robertson and Amy Bird. The original order of these records has been respected, and the notes on folders have been replicated.

As there are a significant number of records in this series, there are two file lists following the series description. The first file list focuses on Crouse's work on Saint Augustine, and the second focuses on Crouse's work on Dante.
